-Spectator Notes-

The fight against the water company's requested rate increase is now well into the fund-raising stage. The City of Carmel has placed $250 in the war chest, and similar amounts will be put in by Monterey and Pacific Grove. The Peninsula Chamber of Commerce put up the county's $250, because the county could not legally do so.

But this is just a start. The local citizens' committee is sending out requests to everyone (13,000 homes) on the Peninsula for a 50¢ contribution. The money will be used to hire experts in the legal and accounting fields. If any money is not used in the protest to the utilities commission, it will go towards a study of public ownership of the water company, or to charity.

The counting of the 69 absentee ballots made a tedious last task for the old council. Going through as rapidly as possible, it took the council nearly an hour to do the job. Proceedings were interrupted once when City Clerk Mawdsley explained how lines in the tally book should be marked. Councilman Whitaker remarked, after they were seated, that now they were "on the inside looking out."

Major Ed Leslie was in town this week with his family. Ed is now stationed stateside after serving a hitch as a B-29 pilot in Korea. During his days at Carmel High School, Ed was one of the school's top athletes.

Lib (Mrs. Ted) Durein tells of walking down Ocean avenue during last week's hegira of Piedmont students, and seeing a girl attired in a bathing suit, bare-footed, wearing a large (broken leg size) cast.

Harriet Adams, asked to look at an article the other day remarked, "Haven't got my glasses with me, and I'm hard of seeing."

The Tom Elston-Bill Cranston architects' office is slated for expansion. What with getting the Fort Ord School project and other large planning jobs they'll need some staffers to man the T-squares.

The old post office is to be inhabited at last! Conum B. Jackson is moving his Carmel Realty Company office from the Las Tiendas Building on Ocean avenue to the new location at the end of the month.

Jackson said he plans to occupy only the front part of the building and lease the rest. The Carmel Realty Company has been in its present Ocean avenue location for the past 18 years.

Not quite New Yorker... "Punch," the English humor magazine, put out a pamphlet a couple of months ago, designed to give a sampling of its past wares, with a handy subscription blank attached. In it were a number of cartoons...one of which found its way into this week's New Yorker, only slightly modified. It's the one where the little boy scribbles a beard and mustache on a "Wanted" poster, then the police apprehend the criminal, with mustache and beard, as decorated. The only difference was that the New Yorker cut out the last two boxes which showed the police removing the beard and proving the point: all in all a snappier version...but then, they've had three months to think it over.

Localite Donald Teague has a drawing in April 19 Saturday Evening Post of four men, pukka sahibs in pith helmets, with guns blazing. The malefactors are in person, Steve Crouch and Jack Swanson, who posed for Teague some time ago. Steve is both the blazer-away, and a horrified onlooker. Tsk, tsk, split personality, if we ever saw one.

Test oil wells are being drilled on Jim Dowd's ranch near King City, but he doesn't know what kind of luck they are having. The drillers are evidently a close-mouthed crew.

NEW COUNCIL SEATED

The new Carmel City Council will meet for the first time to transact business next Tuesday. Facing them will be a long list of applications dealing with two long-standing problems--trees and drainage.

For the past few years these two issues have taken a lot of the council's time and thought. Saving the trees wherever possible and improving the wretched city drainage have proved to be major tasks.

Mayor Horace Lyon, after being named by the new council in caucus session, appointed the council members to the following commissions: Donald Craig, fire and water; John Chitwood, police and lighting; Geraldine Smith, health and safety, and Francis Whitaker, streets and parks.

The appointment of a council member to represent the city on the recreation commission was held over until a later meeting.

Lyon, speaking for the new members of the council, said they felt "a strong debt of gratitude to Allen Knight, Gene Ricketts, and Andy Martin for the work that they have done. We hope to carry on the good work and hope we can do as well."

Before the old council adjourned for the last time, Chitwood also paid a tribute to the outgoing members. Knight thanked him for his remarks and wished "the best for the new council."

The new council also briefly discussed the possibility of a salary revision for city employees and instructed City Clerk Peter Mawdsley to submit the necessary data as soon as possible. Mawdsley noted that if the council reaches a decision to adjust wages, the legal processes take three months before the changes go into effect.

PTA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Carmel PTA, at their meeting on April 15, elected Mrs. Malcolm Foster as their new president for the coming year. Mrs. Harry Hilbert was elected 1st vice president and Mrs. Hal Boyd, 2nd vice president. Mrs. J. F. MacKenzie is the new treasurer; Mrs. J. H. Skillman, recording secretary, and Mrs. Jack Martin, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Gordon Reid also outlined the program for the Summer Day Camp for 8 to 12 year olds under the Summer Recreation Program.

MAYOR HORACE LYON accepts a congratulatory handshake from ex-Mayor Allen Knight at the ceremonies when Lyon and other new city officials were installed this week. In the lower picture the new officials take the oath of office administered by City Attorney Thomas K. Perry. Left to right, they are City Treasurer Harry C. Hilbert, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley, and the new councilmen, Francis Whitaker, Lyon, and Mrs. Geraldine Smith. --Arthur McEwen photos.

DISPOSAL SITE BLOCKED

The possibility of a garbage disposal site on Fort Ord for the Peninsula Garbage District now appears dead. The Department of the Army has notified the Carmel City Council that it will not act to approve the proposed site until there is more "community accord."

The opposition to the Fort Ord site was formed by Del Rey Woods property owners. They succeeded in blocking the district board's choice of the site as being the only one available and practical.

City Clerk Peter Mawdsley, who has been the city's representative on the board, submitted his resignation at the Tuesday council meeting. It was accepted. He noted in a letter to the council that the position took him away from his city office too often and thus was a burden.

LACEY OPENS SHOWROOM

The opening of Lorin D. Lacey's new British car showroom coincides with the Pebble Beach road races this weekend. At the open house being held at the showroom today, motion pictures of sports car racing will be shown, and refreshments will be served.

Those interested in British cars will get a good cross-section to look over during the opening. Included will be a Daimler, Jaguar Mark VII, Alldard K 2, Jaguar XK120, MG

George was given permission to wax cars through the issuance of a use permit for a maximum of six months. Previously, the commission has interpreted the zoning ordinance as intending that only the parking of cars was permitted on a parking lot--not other services such as washing and waxing.

If the commission finds that washing and waxing at the parking lot is satisfactory at the end of the six-month period, the interpretation may be changed to allow such activities on parking lots.

SUNSET TOUR

"NORTH OF THE BORDER"

At Sunset Auditorium next Tuesday night, April 22, at 8 p.m., the audience will go "north of the border" on a screen tour, free to the public, in the Carmel Adult Education series. As well as exploring pleasant places in British Columbia, a popular Canadian film titled "Four Seasons" will depict wildlife and the beauty of the changing seasons in the Gatineau Valley north of Ottawa, Canada's capital.

In the more rugged gorge of the Fraser River, cameramen have made a remarkable film record of Pacific salmon as they push up-river to spawn in the very pool where they were born...to complete the puzzling cycle of salmon life, back to the headwaters far inland from the Pacific Ocean's vast expanse. The last journey of the salmon to surmount waterfalls and rapids is shown in "Red Runs the Fraser."

From the film library of the Consulate General of Canada in San Francisco, next Tuesday's hour will conclude with something novel in film art: "Begone Dull Care," a lively interpretation in fluid lines and color of jazz music played by the Oscar Peterson Trio. Painting directly on film, two Canadian Film-Board artists, Evelyn Lambart and Norman McLaren, have depicted sound translated into light--as they see it. This abstraction of constantly changing color, restless lines and momentary shapes, is offered as an interesting development in animation techniques and film as an art form.

A former Canadian daily newspaper editor, Charles A. Bowman--now residing in Carmel--will introduce the films as forum leader.

DRAMA FESTIVAL SPEAKERS

The list of speakers for the ANTA-Monterey Drama Festival April 20 to 27 at Monterey is completed and is indeed a most impressive one. The festival will cover all phases of the theatre--from nine major productions of top flight theatrical groups to seminars, demonstrations, lectures, displays, and forums.

The principal speakers will be Dr. Marjorie Bailey of Stanford and advisor to the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, moderating a panel of experts on Shakespeare; Dr. Hubert Heffner of Stanford and Martin Flavin conducting a discussion on Modern Drama and playwrights; Wendell Johnson, Arch Lauterer and Vladimir Johanson, leading a forum on scenic design in the contemporary theatre; the art of acting and staging led by Rollo Peters and Marion Stebbins of Mills College. Mr. Peters will also read Robinson Jeffers' famous narrative poem, "Roan Stallion." Dr. Norman Philbrick of Stanford and the officers of the American Educational Theatre Association will discuss teen-age and juvenile theatre.

Drama critics Luther Nicols of the S.F. Chronicle; Wood Soames of the Oakland Tribune; Fred Johnson of the S.F. Examiner; Dorothy Nicols of the Palo Alto Times; and Irene Alexander of the Monterey Peninsula Herald will conduct a critics' forum.

Clarence Derwent, president of Actors' Equity Assoc., N.Y., also official representative of ANTA, and Christian Westphalen of ANTA will speak on ANTA's aims and goals. The California-Nevada Theatre Council will have its annual meeting with an address by J. F. McKenna of San Francisco State College and Christian Westphalen.

The American National Theatre and Academy and the California-Nevada Theatre Council are the sponsors of the ANTA-Monterey Drama Festival. For further information and reser-

FOLEY - COYLE WEDDING

Miss Patricia Jean Foley of Carmel became the bride of Robert Coyle, Jr., of Birmingham, Alabama, in simple rites performed Easter Sunday in the Pebble Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford. The Rev. K. Fillmore Gray read the 4 o'clock service before a small group of friends and family members.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Crawford, wore a blue knit dress with black accessories and white orchids. Mrs. Crawford, her only attendant, was attired in a pink knit dress with a corsage of green orchids. D. H. Warden of Seal Beach, Calif., was Mr. Coyle's best man.

Immediately following the wedding and informal reception, the newlyweds flew to Los Angeles and from there to Birmingham for a visit with Mr. Coyle's parents. They will continue by plane via Montreal and Quebec to London, where they will make their home, although they expect to spend considerable time traveling due to the nature of Mr. Coyle's business.

Miss Foley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Foley, is the sister of Mrs. Walter Moeller of Biwabik, Minnesota, and of Jack Foley of Escondido, Calif., who attended the wedding with his family.

Mr. Coyle's sister, Mrs. Adrian Egbert, came from her home in Fontana, Calif., for the ceremony, but neither his parents nor his brother, Richard Coyle of Birmingham, were able to attend.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETINGS

The card section of the Carmel Women's Club met last Monday for their regular monthly meeting. Refreshments for the afternoon were in charge of Mrs. F. B. Seville, Mrs. James A. Dempsey, Mrs. Marion L. Chamberlain, and Miss Amy Comings.

Miss Marjorie Landon, of Monterey Peninsula College, will be the guest speaker at the meeting on April 21 of the book section. Miss Landon will speak on "Trends in Modern Literature."

THE COMMUNITY INTEREST MUST BE SERVED

THE COMMUNITY INTEREST MUST BE SERVED

To safeguard the welfare of Peninsula residents, we feel that all the facts should be considered, not just from the negative basis of resisting a much needed increase in revenue to the water company, but a realistic approach to what it takes and what is required to maintain a continuing high standard of public service to the community.

We believe the public's interest can best be served by sticking to the facts only, discounting opinions not based on facts, and avoiding prejudices.

However, in the study of all facts, one must be careful not to consider them as separate bits of knowledge but as links in chains of knowledge. An understanding of relationships is therefore extremely important if a true evaluation is to be made.

5 CENTS PER DAY

Take, for instance, the amount of the increase we are requesting. The proposed increase in water rates would be, in fact, far less than the increases in prices of most commodities used every day. Since 1941 food has gone up 141%; home furnishings 106%; clothing 107%; the overall cost of living 90%; newspaper advertising 100%; newspaper subscriptions 67%.

Our requested increase would be not more than the price of five cigarettes, or a nickel candy bar daily to the average householder; this is rather small when considered in relationship to the multitude of other price increases.

PHYSICAL FACTS OF GREAT SIGNIFICANCE

The highly efficient, well-managed storage, purification and distribution system necessary to supply our service territory, has been well engineered to fit the complex physical requirements of this area.

To date, the physical plant has kept pace with the needs of this growing community. The functional and costly dams and other storage facilities, long transmission lines, filter plants and pumps all are part of the important significant facts to be considered.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR GOOD SERVICE

Your water company has a great responsibility to the health and welfare of the community. Because good water service is so vital, we'd like to emphasize additional facts.

Your water company has two responsibilities. 1. To give you good, efficient service Today. 2. To provide facilities for adequate service Tomorrow.

In very simple language, money from customers' bills, call it Expense Money, pays wages, maintenance and operating expenses.

Funds to supply adequate service tomorrow must come primarily from Investment Money. If there is no new and additional investment, funds are not available for the constant improvement and new facilities required to serve new residents of the community. That is why we need reasonable earnings.

THE ANSWER

After all the facts and their relationships are properly evaluated, the answer still remains the same. Rates must produce sufficient income to provide net earnings that will attract new investors to provide new facilities to expand and grow with the community.

①

②

THE CROSLLEY HOTSHOT is America's only production sports car. With a displacement of 726 c.c., the Crosley runs in Class 8. William Devin, Jr. of Fontana has entered his car again this year and will be running with Number 10.

③

THE ALFA ROMEO has been an outstanding competition car for many years both in Grand Prix and sports car racing. Phil Hill, driving this 1939 Mille Miglia model, took fourth place last year, driving the last 25 miles of the race with no brakes. Hastings Harcourt is seen sliding his Jaguar through the turn behind Hill.

THE SIMCA has come along in recent years to challenge the MG domination of Class 6. Roger Barlow, one of the first to see the potentialities of this little car, put a feather-weight body on a lightened chassis. Since then he has been the man to beat in Class 6. He has entered two Simcas this year.

Sports Car

Road racing of sports cars has caught the public interest in the few short years since the war so that it is now one of the top spectator sports in the country. Hundreds of thousands of people watch these races held all over the United States.

All the big sports car races in this country are amateur. There are no money prizes given, only cups and trophies. Essentially, the men who race sports cars are automobile enthusiasts who meet to test their driving skill and ability to make a reliable, fast car.

The definition of a sports car is a very hazy affair. Basically a sports car is one which can be driven for pleasure, on trips or even to the corner market. It must be able to carry at least two persons. But it also is able to compete in races. Thus, the sports car is a road racer that can be used for regular transportation. In addition, sports cars in races run on standard "ethyl" fuel.

The classification of sports cars is sometimes a little difficult to understand. The classes are based on motor displacement, that is, the volume of area in the cylinder between the top and the bottom of the piston stroke multiplied by the number of cylinders. The displacement is given in cubic centimeters.

The classes at Pebble Beach will be divided according to the regulations of the Sports Car Club of America. They run from 350 c.c. to 5,500 c.c. or 20 cubic inches 332 c.i.

To compare American and European motor sizes, it is easiest to translate the American motor displacement into liters (1,000 c.c.). A liter is equal to about 61 cubic inches.

The new Chrysler motor, one of the biggest and best U.S. powerplants, is about 5.4 liters and develops around 180 horsepower. When tuned for racing it delivers well over 200. The Ford 8 cylinder motor is about 4 liters and develops about 110 h.p. The Nash Rambler has 2.8 liter motor giving 82 h.p.

Two relatively well-known European cars are the Jaguar

Racing

XK 120 and the MG. The former has a 3.5 liter motor developing 160 h.p., and the MG has a 1.4 motor giving about 54 h.p.

Few cars will be racing in Class 1, 5,500 c.c. or over. In general they will be the cars with Cadillac or Chrysler motors greatly modified. Tom Carstens' car which won last year was in this class. Sterling Edwards' new special will be in this class.

The next class, two, from 4,000 to 5,500 c.c., will include less-modified Cadillac, and Chrysler powered cars and those with enlarged Mercury motors.

In Class 3 (3,000 to 4,000 c.c.) come the Jaguars. In Class 4 (1,950 to 3,000 c.c.) a hot contest can be expected. In this class are a Morgan Plus-4, a 2.1 Ferrari, an Aston Martin D3/2, and a Healey Silverstone.

If a motor of any given displacement is supercharged, it is moved up one class above its regular displacement class. Thus the supercharged MGs will be running in the next class, 5, and the unsupercharged MGs will run in Class 6 (1,000 to 1,500 c.c.). In the latter class, the MGs will face a Jowett Jupiter, the Simcas, two Porsches, and a Siata.

Probably the smallest sports car motor at Pebble Beach will be the 750 c.c. Crosley, which is Class 8 running unsupercharged.

Class 6 and below will run separately from the larger cars of Class 5 and up. Both races will be 100 miles long.

In addition to the sports cars, the "500" racing cars will also run Sunday. These cars are International Grand Prix Formula 111 cars, and the motors are limited to 500 c.c. displacement. Most of them are powered by racing motorcycle motors.

They are very light and capable of speeds well over 100 m.p.h. They will race the first 50 miles with the big sports cars and then will be waved off the track. Several 500s have been entered, mostly British Coopers. However one Effyh, made in Sweden, is also scheduled to compete.

In spite of their tiny motors, these little cars are expected to make some of the larger cars (with ten times the motor) look a bit ungainly.

THE FIRST FERRARI to be seen on the Pebble Beach circuit was entered last year by James Kimberly of Chicago. This beautiful car is an example of the outstanding sports car of the world. This one is powered by the small Ferrari motor, 1,995 c.c., and runs in Class 4. Its acceleration and cornering ability keep it among the leaders.

6

Sterling Edwards is a sports car enthusiast who believes that the U.S. can build cars which will beat European machines. His SPECIAL, powered by an overhead valve Ford motor, took the checkered flag over foreign rivals on numerous occasions. This year he has entered two, the second being a Chrysler-powered car on a Henry J chassis.

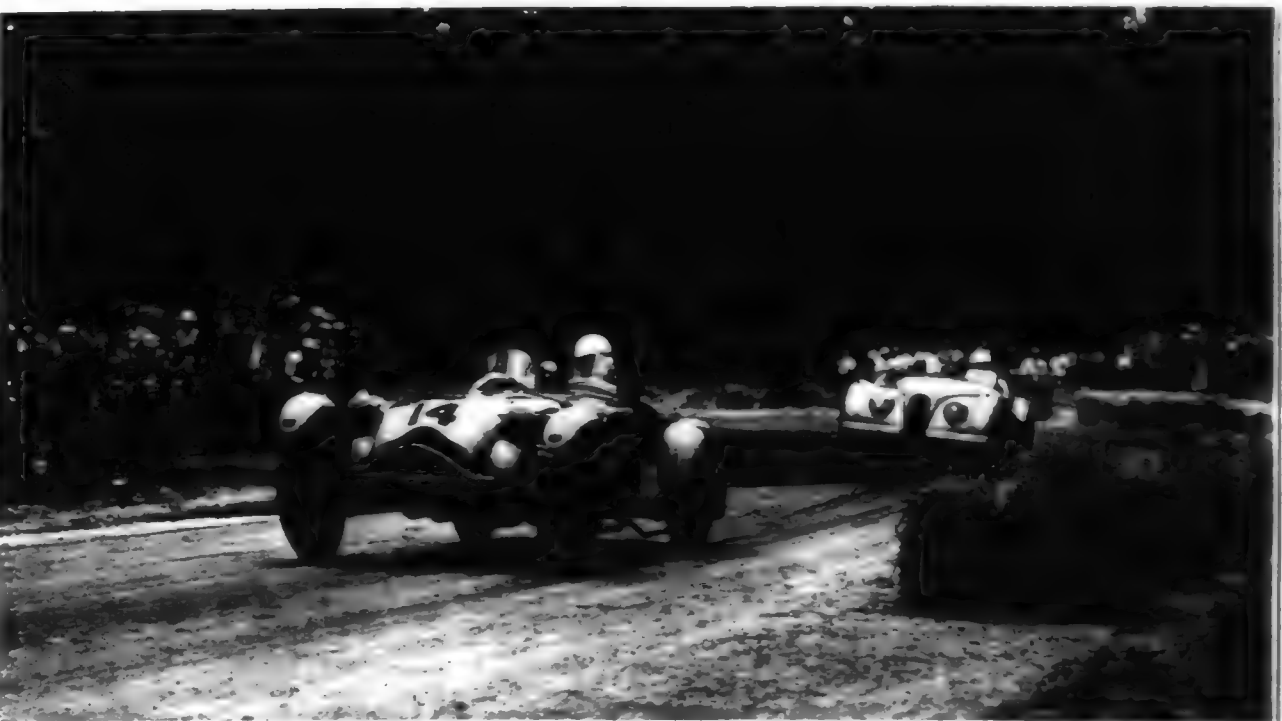

7

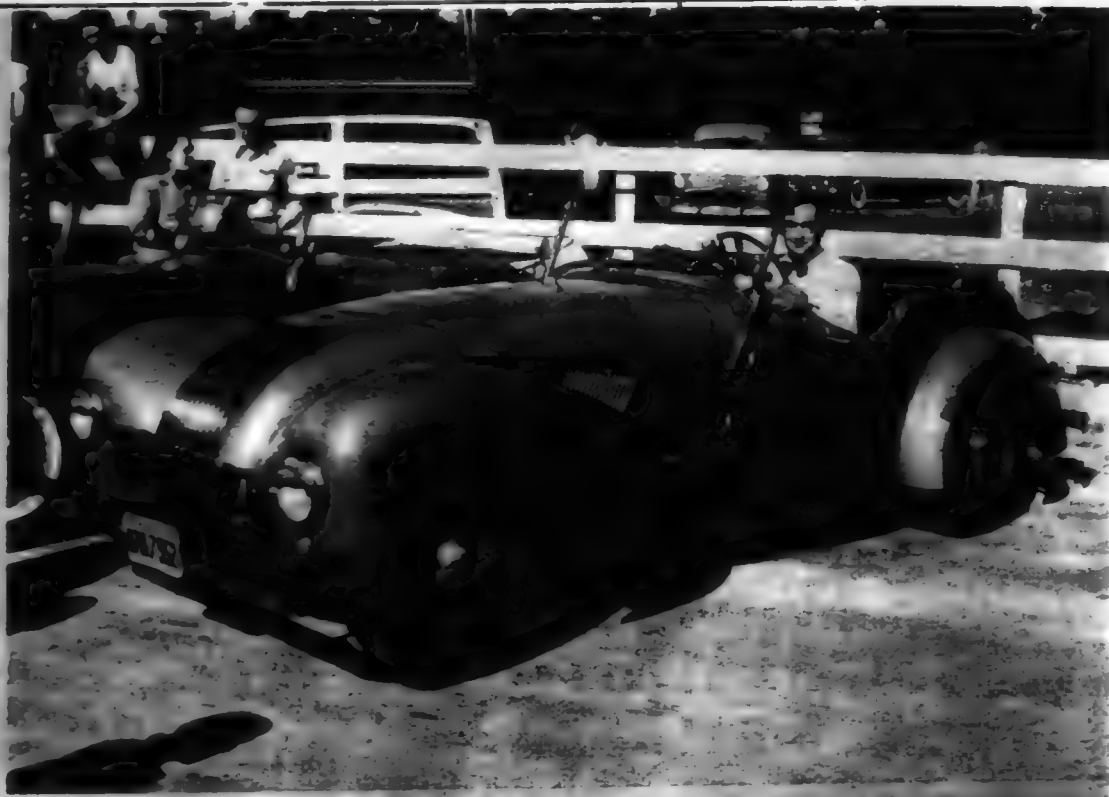

THE BRITISH ALLARD powered by a modified Cadillac motor is definitely the favorite in Sunday's race for "big" cars. Bill Pollack driving Tom Carstens' car won last year, closely followed by Jack Armstrong on a similar mount. In the past two years Michael Graham has put up the fastest qualifying times in a "Cad-Allard," although he has been plagued by bad luck in the races.

If you want to see action at a sports car race, find a curve. There is where the skill of the driver and the abilities of the car are best shown. There is where places are gained or lost. Here Kimberly and Hill battle coming out of a curve. Note the smoke from scorched tires hanging over the road.

The Concours d'Elegance will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Del Monte Lodge. At this time the very latest in passenger and sports cars will be displayed and judged by the Concours committee.

An important part of all European rallies, the Concours is a combination style and comfort show. Cars are judged for the comforts and conveniences they offer driver and passengers as well as beauty of design.

Some interesting "vintage" cars have also been entered in the contest.

Such unusual cars as the British Aston Martin, the Italian Siata, the American Nash-Healy, the British Morgan Plus 4, as well as some American "specials" will be seen.

THE CARS shown above are examples of what can be expected at the Concours at Pebble Beach. The MORGAN PLUS FOUR (1) is a British sports car with a 2.1 liter motor. This car will be running for the first time at Pebble Beach in the races Sunday. The ALLARD K2 (2) is a slightly modified version of the competition Allard model J2. The K2, available with a variety of motors, offers more weather protection and fuller "wings" or fenders.

The JAGUAR MARK VII (3) is a comparatively familiar automobile to this area. The Mark VII is the first sedan put out by Jaguar with the renowned XK120 motor. This motor, developing about 165 hp, enables the Jaguar to travel in excess of 100 mph. The JOWETT JUPITER (4) is another sports car which will be running for the first time on the Pebble Beach circuit. This little car has an interesting motor--an opposed flat four cylinders. It has had numerous successes in the year it has been racing in Europe.

The DAIMLER (5) needs no introduction. This beautiful automobile is the last word in passenger car engineering. Daimler has made the cars for the British Crown for years. The RILEY (6) is a high-speed touring car manufactured by the Nuffield company, builders of the MG. Riley has had a proud history in racing, and the present 2.5 liter roadster is in the 100 mph class.

The AUSTIN A90 (7) is the car which set the amazing string of production car records at Indianapolis. Although not a sports car, this product of the Austin company has been well received by Americans who want a light car which travels fast.

The JAGUAR SS (8), a sleek, classic automobile was turned out in the years just prior to World War II. The Jaguar company hardly got rolling when the war came. It is only since 1945 that this company has gained its present high regard in automotive circles.

THE TINY FORMULA III (International Grand Prix classification) racing cars will be making one of their first West Coast appearances at Pebble Beach Sunday. The little 500s have gained a great following across the Atlantic, especially in England. They exhibit tremendous acceleration and a top speed of over 100 m.p.h. Due to their handling characteristics they will be running with the big cars, although they will be racing among themselves. Shown above is a Cooper 300 passing an MG, one of the smaller sports cars racing this weekend. At the right is an MG TC owned and driven by Robert Gillespie of Oakland.

At right: A map of the road races course. The grandstands are on the straightaway, with pits opposite. It is suggested that the best vantage point is a curve, since it is there that the drivers' skill is revealed in shifting down, and handling his car...It's also where the major position changes occur.

The Amateur Gardener

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

Fundamentally, gardening is simple. Man began working in the soil long before recorded history. The need and urge to grow plants for use and pleasure are so much a part of his nature that he will find, even under most difficult conditions, a way to satisfy this urge.

GARDENS FOR CHILDREN

Children should be encouraged to make gardens of their own. Give them some small plot of just a few square feet for their very own in which to begin. You may suggest planting a few vegetables or flowers that are easy to grow. After you have shown them how to work up the soil and rake it even, have them write their name in the soil about a half inch deep and then sow some radish seed. In a few days the seed will sprout and they will be thrilled and excited in this adventure. Frequently, children will have their start in such a simple way, in the adventure of gardening. Beginning early in life makes a successful gardener. A person after 35 years of age seldom makes a good gardener.

A successful gardener is not a magician and does not pretend to be one. He knows that in order to succeed he must adopt a few fundamental laws of nature and he learns these from experience and trial and error. Careful observation means as much in gardening as in any activity. A real gardener is seldom bored or depressed. The expectancy of the thrill of effort is not exceeded in any hobby or sport, because there is a permanency and a reward of effort.

PANSIES

Everyone loves the pansy with its droll little faces and gorgeous colors dancing in the breeze. They require some personal attention, although nothing difficult. I prefer to grow them in pots or boxes because of insects which abound in the open garden.

Select only the best large jumbo variety of plants, at least a dozen or more. The soil for pansies can hardly be too rich, made up with one-third each good top soil, well rotted manure, and peat-moss. To this add a tablespoonful of bone-meal, and a little soil sulphur. I put each plant in a 9-inch pot or, if a box is used, plant them 9 inches apart.

After planting set the containers in a shady spot and as soon as buds appear feed them every two weeks with fish emulsion or a liquid commercial fertilizer. They should not be exposed to mid-day sun, and windy areas in the garden should be avoided.

PROLONGING PANSIES

To prolong the blooming period, pick the flowers frequently and also remove all seed pods. Look carefully in doing this for the seed pods resemble the new flower buds.

Never allow them to dry out; water starvation is very disastrous to the pansy plant. Water generously, especially at the end of a warm dry day. Late afternoon is the best time to water. A layer of peat-moss around the base of the plant will prevent evaporation of moisture.

The rainy season will soon end, so be sure to water your rhododendrons, azaleas, camellias, fuschias, and begonias.

PLANTING IDEAS

When you visit your nursery ask to see: Viburnum Burkwoodii. It is a beautiful hardy shrub, almost evergreen, and the flowers are delightfully fragrant. The plant grows about 5 feet tall and about as wide.

The tree wisteria is now in bloom and it is a choice addition to any garden in a sunny location or near a pool.

The Summer lilac or butterfly bush is a deciduous shrub. It must be cut back severely each year. If kept under control it gives an abundance of lilac flowers which attract hordes of butterflies.

The old-fashioned lilac, the french and persian lilacs, are now grafted on privet stock and they grow very well in this area. The lilac has been a favorite in gardens of the East for many years.

MUSIC TEACHERS ASSOC.

STUDENT RECITAL

Eleven prominent teachers of the Peninsula will be represented by their pupils. This will be open to the public without charge.

PI BETA PHI LUNCHEON

The Monterey Peninsula Pi Beta Phi's are planning a luncheon to celebrate their Founders Day, on Wednesday, April 23, at 1 p.m. The luncheon will be at the Crocodile's Tail Restaurant at the Monterey Peninsula Airport. All Pi Phi's in the area are invited to attend.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. J. C. Douby, 7-3291, Mrs. Elmer H. Bauer, 5-6609, or Mrs. John Hall, Jr., 2-2529.

HAMMOND ORGAN

SOCIETY MEETING

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Skowran, in the Highlands, the Hammond Organ Society had a meeting last Monday evening, April 14.

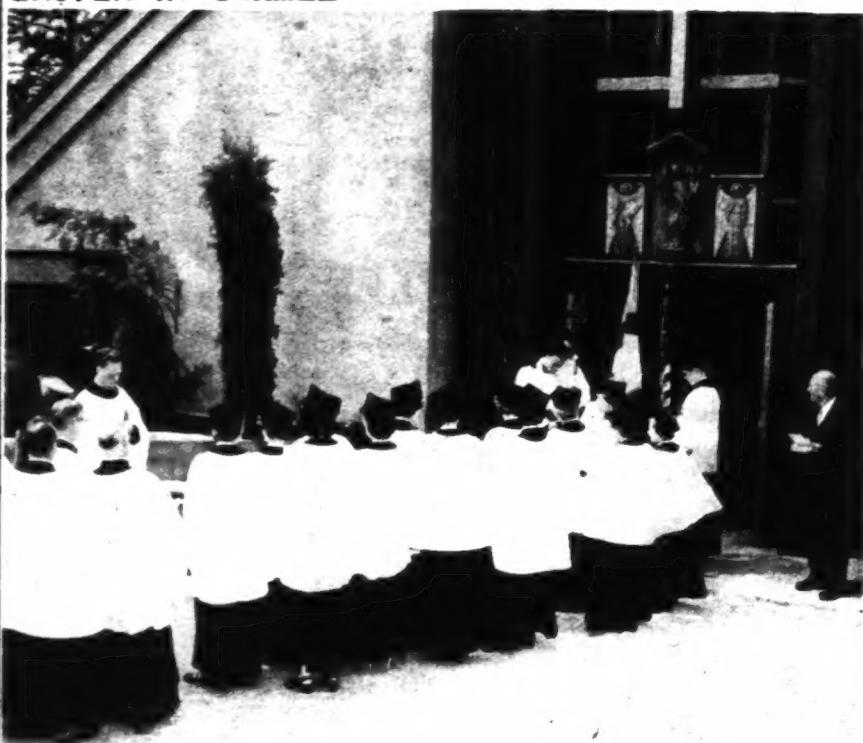

About 70 members and their guests gathered to bid Mr. Jack Loren Lindesmith goodbye. Mr. Lindesmith, an outstanding organist of Northern California and the Monterey Peninsula, is leaving to appear in radio and television in the East.

Business was dispensed with and Mr. Lindesmith graciously gave a two hour request program, keeping his listeners spellbound with his artistry on the Hammond organ.

A.A.U.W. MEETINGS

The meeting of the social studies section of A.A.U.W. has been moved up from April

EASTER IN CARMEL

AS EVIDENCED BY UMBRELLAS, Easter in Carmel was not as sunny as it could have been. Some of the ladies didn't even dare bring out their new Easter bonnets. But despite the gray skies, large crowds turned out at Carmel's churches last Sunday. At the top is All Saints', the Carmel Mission, and the Church of the Wayfarer. -- Arthur McEwen photos.

28 to April 21 at 8 p.m. The section will meet at the home of Mrs. Richard Eldred, 1024 Egan avenue, Pacific Grove.

The State Convention of A.A.U.W. will take place on May 16 and 17 at Santa Cruz and reservations for meals and hotel rooms must be made by May 1 at Casa del Rey Hotel in Santa Cruz. Arrangements and information regarding reservations may be had from Mrs. Mark Raggett, 7-7836.

carmel library notes

A lively biography is included in the new books at the library this week. John H. Wilson chronicles the rise of Nell Gwyn from a seller of oranges to mistress of King Charles II. Wilson, who is a professor of English at Ohio State University, has sketched a careful background of Restoration England in telling of the outspoken, high-living Nell.

Eugene Goossens, who represents the fourth generation of his family to become orchestral conductors, has written his autobiography, Overture and Beginners. Goossens knew many prominent musical figures—Debussy, Delius, Casals, Melba, and many others, and his story is replete with anecdotes and sidelights on them.

Those who read music have a chance to add some of the very best of all popular songs to their repertoire with The Rodgers and Hart Song Book.

The popular San Francisco Chronicle columnist, Robert O'Brien, has a new book of California history. California Called Them tells of the gold rush days and the growth of many California towns. Illustrations are by Antonio Sotomayer.

Living Without Hate was written by Alfred J. Marrow to serve as a guide to community leaders and teachers in dealing with racial prejudice. Marrow, who is a psychologist and teacher, has long been interested and involved in racial problems and his book tells of the success that has been achieved with his "action-research" program.

A new collection has been made of the works of John Burroughs by Farida A. Wiley. In John Burroughs' America some of the best of this peerless nature writer's work will be found.

A collection has been made of John Lardner's sports columns which appear weekly in Newsweek magazine. The title, taken from one of the pieces, is Strong Cigars and Lovely Women, and Lardner promises his readers 49 other misleadingly titled articles as well. Lardner also guarantees his work to be as accurate as that of Louella O. Parsons, and, as his Newsweek followers know, he is just as funny.
